

ASSURANCE OF CONFIDENTIALITY

All information provided to the Internal violation reporting channel, including your personal identity and contact details, shall be classified as confidential information.

We undertake to ensure that the information you provide is stored and processed by implementing organisational, technical and software measures to protect the information provided against unauthorised destruction, alteration, disclosure, accidental loss, unauthorised direct or indirect access, or other improper processing.

The confidentiality requirement shall not apply where:

- the person submitting or providing information about the violation so requests in writing;
- the person provides knowingly false information.
